We Must Eat Less and Produce More, Delegates at Conference Agree

Yearly Waste Here Totals 16 Billions

Co-operation of Consumers Proposed to Reduce Prices

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—Various phases of the food problem confronting the United States were discussed today at the conference on the world's food under the auspices of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

A food shortage already existed in this country, it was declared, and the opinion was expressed that the American system of producing, distributing and preparing food could hardly be more inadequate and wasteful than it is.

It was agreed, was the main theme, that the war against Germany, and to win the United States must produce more food—and eat less.

Charles J. Brand, chief of the Bureau of Markets in the Department of Agriculture, declared that a relative scarcity of food already existed in the United States. This shortage he ascribed partly to unfavorable crop conditions and partly to the changing of American's forces of production into forces of destruction. The outlook for next year, however, was favorable, he said.

To increase the food output of the nation, Gifford Pinchot, former chief of the United States Forestry Service, and now president of the Pennsylvania Rural Progress Association, advised the production of more livestock, even at the expense of grain production. He also advocated "collective action" by producers, distributors and consumers.

Collective action was likewise suggested by Peter Hamilton, vice president of the Farmers' Mortgage Company, New York. But Mr. Hamilton's idea, embracing solely the problem of lowering high prices, limited action to consumers alone; cooperative buying of food by the people on the plan of the Rochdale tailors, whose scheme, employed first in 1844, he would apply to all the world.

Remedy for Labor Shortage

A. E. Grantham, professor of agronomy in Delaware College, predicted that the labor shortage, which already had seriously hampered farm production throughout the country, would become more acute when the drafted field laborers are called to the colors. He suggested concentration camps for labor, to be moved wherever harvest requirements were most pressing. He also favored short time loans to farmers from local banks.

The country, he asserted, must serve their country better by lending to farmers on their notes than by sending their surplus to the great financial centers for investment in commercial paper.

Such loans, he said, were essential to increasing production because the rural credit system, administered by the farm loan banks, provided government money only on long term mortgages, which could not materially aid the farmers to meet the emergencies created by the war.

Discussions of what women have done and might still do to solve the food problem occupied much of today's conference.

Lathrop Pack, president of the National Emergency Food Garden Council, announced that his organization, which has been working for the past year, has secured at least 400,000 jars of fruits and vegetables.

Milk to Go Up a Cent Oct. 1; More By November, Dealers Predict

Retailers Expect to Increase Cost to Consumers as Result of Action by State Dairymen's League, but Hoover May Take Hand

As a result of action taken in Syracuse yesterday by the directors of the New York State Dairymen's League, milk dealers here said last night that it was almost a certainty that the price of milk would be again raised from 1 to 1 1/2 cents a quart, on October 1. And still another increase, they say, is not only possible but probable on November 1.

The directors of the Dairymen's League voted yesterday to charge milk distributors $3.10 a hundred pounds for milk during October and $3.34 in November. The rate at present is $2.55.

At the present time milk producers receive about 5 1/2 cents a quart for their milk and consumers, since August 1, have been paying 12 1/2 cents a quart for Grade B milk and 14 cents for Grade A.

"It is hard to say off hand," said Luther Campbell, president of the Clover Farms, "what the effect of the new scale will be. I should say, however, that it is likely the public will have to pay more for milk."

Raymond Van Cise, secretary of the Mutual Milkmen's Dairy Corporation, believes the new scale means that on October 1 the price of milk will be 14 cents for Grade B and 15 cents for Grade A milk. What it will be November 1, Mr. Van Cise said, could not well be stated now.

"It seems to me," he added, "that this new scale of prices is more than likely to hasten whatever action Food Commissioner Hoover expects to take. In fact, I have been expecting him to take a hand in the milk question."

"At the present time we are paying $2.55 for a hundred pounds of milk. The increase for October is exactly fifty cents. That is a little more than one cent a quart to the producer. As a matter of fact, then, if the milk dealer only raises his price one cent a quart, he will be making an appreciable cut in his possible profits."

and editor, asserted that the trade of housewife, as practiced by about 15,000,000 women in the United States, was the most wasteful in the world. The present system of keeping house, she said, wasted 30 per cent of both plant and labor.

Apart from their failings as preparers of food, Mrs. Gilman appeared to hold that one of the chief faults of women was the helpless, supine way in which they stand for a system of distribution that allows artificial, frequently criminal, inflation of prices.

U. S. Laboratories Suggested

To remedy absolutely this condition, to save the stomachs as well as the purses of a large proportion of husbands, she suggested an ideal—in effect, to make Uncle Sam chief cook

Hoover to License Produce Dealers

Calls Conference of Traders on Plan to Reduce Prices

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—The government's campaign to reduce the cost of living by lowering and controlling prices of vegetables and other produce got under way in earnest to-day.

Produce men received telegrams urging them to attend a conference with Food Administrator Hoover in Washington Tuesday morning for the purpose of determining ways and means of handling the bumper crops of vegetables in order to conserve and at the same time hold prices at reasonable figures.

It is intimated by those who know that the government is not going to permit prices to rise to $4 a bushel this winter, with bumper crops in the fields, nor to permit speculators to boost the prices of onions and other vegetables to prohibitive figures.

The plan to be worked out is to license every produce dealer who wishes to do business. By this method the government will have a firm grip on the situation. It will demand that records be kept of all sales and deliveries, so that carlots of produce cannot be held on railroad sidings and sold a dozen times, each sale netting some dealer a handsome profit, the consumer finally paying them all.

Some said they hoped the government would find a way to fix approximate prices, or at least insure the dealers of a reasonable profit in handling their produce. They complain they are at the mercy of the farmer, who they assert, is holding back shipments in hope of obtaining even higher prices than now extant.

Perkins in Clash With Dairy Head

Faith of Food Expert Openly Questioned in Meeting at State Fair

SYRACUSE, Sept. 14.—After delivering a speech at the State Fair this afternoon on the necessity of food control legislation in the state, George W. Perkins, Governor Whitman's choice for chairman of the new Food Commission, engaged in an extended argument with leaders of the Dairymen's League, which is opposed to his confirmation by the Senate.

Mr. Perkins was conducted through an exhibit of farm products by Lieutenant Governor Edward Schoenbeck, Commissioner of Agriculture Charles S. Wilson, State Fair Commissioner Charles A. Ietling, also a member of the Food Commission; Senator J. Henry Walters, who led the fight for his confirmation; and George H. Glynn, chairman of the Republican State Committee.

While in the building they met R. C. Cooper, president, and several leading members of the Dairymen's League, and Mr. Perkins immediately engaged them, asking them to state the grounds for their opposition to the food legislation and to his confirmation.

Mr. Cooper, who was spokesman for the dairymen, openly questioned Mr. Perkins' sincerity and the sincerity of Governor Whitman's confirmation. When pressed by Mr. Perkins for a position, Mr. Cooper said that he believed the dairy industry was being sacrificed to the interests of the state.

Mr. Perkins defended the Harvester corporation, quoting from an open letter to the majority leader of the State Senate, Elton R. Brown, on that point.

"Because you turn me down for a position, I don't want it," Perkins said, "do you think that the problems of the milk industry are solved? The dairymen of the state should organize solidly, not in their present organization, which is contrary to law, but under a state charter. They should fix the prices for their milk, but in doing so they must take the consumers of the state into their confidence, and they must be able to state the reasons for their opposition to the food legislation and to his confirmation."

Nation-Wide Ship Strike Threatens War Plans of U. S.

'Frisco Workers May Join New York and Seattle Walkouts

Higher Wages Asked

Scale in Force in Navy May Be Adopted to Meet the Crisis

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The labor situation in shipbuilding plants is giving the Shipping Board serious concern. A threatened walk-out of iron trade workers at New York and Seattle, the most serious difficulties the board is facing at the moment.

Representatives of both employers and employees are here from Seattle, and a New York delegation came to-day to take up the situation in the New York yards.

With study of the wage adjustment board the Shipping Board is trying to work out a wage scale by zones which it hopes will be adopted by builders and their workers everywhere. The system is patterned after the navy scale.

The Seattle workers are demanding a 33 per cent wage increase. If this were granted and served as a basis for increases elsewhere, the government's shipbuilding programme more than $200,000,000. The Seattle demands will be passed upon, it is said, only after a careful study of the situation.

San Francisco shipyard workers have been asked to postpone any action until the Shipping Board has had an opportunity to take up their case. If they insist on a strike, however, the board it was said to-day, could do nothing to prevent it.

The threatened San Francisco strike would involve twenty-five per cent of the nation's shipbuilding capacity, and would be a serious blow to the government's war effort.
